G.Passengers and their baggage occupied seats shall be adjacent and not separated from the aisle;

H. Seat occupied baggage shall not hinder passengers from emergency evacuation, observing the external conditions through the cabin window, or blocking any passenger notification and exit signs.

3 Announcement on Prohibiting Passengers from Carrying Liquid on Domestic Flights

In order to maintain the safety of passengers' lives and property, the Civil Aviation Administration of China has decided to adjust the relevant measures for passengers to carry liquid goods on domestic flights. It is hereby announced as follows:

A.Passengers on domestic flights are prohibited from carrying liquid goods, but they can be checked in for delivery, and their packaging shall comply with the relevant provisions of civil aviation transportation.

B.Passengers shall carry a small amount of cosmetics for their own use. Each kind of cosmetics shall be limited to one piece and its container volume shall not exceed 100ml, and shall be placed in a separate bag for bottle opening inspection.

C. For passengers from abroad who need to transfer to domestic flights at airports in China, the duty-free liquid goods brought into China shall be placed in a sealed transparent plastic bag with intact bag body, and the shopping voucher shall be presented. They can only be carried after being confirmed by security inspection.

D. Passengers with infants can make application to the airline when purchasing tickets, to ask the airline to provide liquid dairy products free of charge on board; diabetes patients or other patients can carry the necessary liquid medicine after it is confirmed by the safety inspection and it will be kept in the custody of the crew.

E. The liquid goods carried by passengers on international and regional flights shall still comply with the relevant provisions of the Announcement on Restrictions on Carrying Liquid Goods on Civil Aircraft issued by the Civil Aviation Administration of China on March 17, 2007.

F. Passengers who violate the above provisions, resulting in missing flight and other consequences, shall bear the responsibility.

4 Checked Baggage

4.1 Definition

4.1.1 “Baggage” refers to items and other personal property that are necessary or appropriate for wear, use, comfort or convenience carried by a passenger during the trip.

4.1.2 “Checked baggage” refers to baggage that is entrusted to Shenzhen Airlines for care and transportation and for which a baggage identification tag has been issued.

4.1.3 “Baggage carriage segment” refers to the journey of a passenger between the baggage shipping point and the next stopover.

4.2 Applicable Routes

This standard applies to the transportation of standard checked baggage on domestic, international, and regional routes where the entire journey is operated by Shenzhen Airlines under its own flight number.

4.3 The principle of free checked baggage allowance selection

4.3.1 Newly issued tickets

4.3.1.1 Tickets for Shenzhen Airlines actual flights

For the baggage transportation of Shenzhen Airlines, domestic air transport implements the weight system, and international air transport implements the piece system.The free checked baggage allowance shall be determined by the automatic calculation results of Global Distribution Systems (GDS).

4.3.1.2 Charter flights

Passenger baggage allowances shall follow the relevant provisions specified in the charter agreement.

4.3.2 Change of ticket

4.3.2.1 Voluntary changed tickets:

A. If the ticket is not used as a whole, and the ticket is reissued and a new ticket number is generated, the free checked baggage allowance on the date of change will apply. If the ticket is rescheduled free of charge, and the ticket is not reissued and no new ticket number is generated, the free checked baggage allowance on the original date of sale will apply.

B. If a portion of the ticket has been used and is voluntarily changed, the free checked baggage allowance on the original date of sale shall apply.

4.3.2.2 Involuntary changed tickets:

A. If the ticket is involuntarily changed between the same class of service, the free checked baggage allowance remains unchanged.

B. In the event of an involuntary increase or reduction of the class of service, the free checked baggage allowance of the ticket shall be filled in accordance with the standard of the class of service of the original ticket.

4.3.2.3 The free checked baggage allowance for code-sharing and interline flights is automatically calculated by the Global Distribution System.

4.4 Restrictions on ordinary checked baggage

4.4.1 Size restrictions per ordinary checked baggage

A.The sum of the length, width and height of each piece of ordinary checked baggage shall not be less than 60 cm or 24 inches and less than or equal to 203 cm or 80 inches, including pulleys and handles.

4.4.2 Size restrictions for each piece of free checked baggage

A. The length, width and height of each piece of free checked baggage on domestic flights are limited to 100 cm or 39 inches, 60 cm or 24 inches, 40 cm or 16 inches respectively, or the sum of length, width, and height is less than or equal to 203 cm or 80 inches, including pulleys and handles.

B. The sum of length, width, and height of each piece of free checked baggage on international/regional flights shall not exceed 158 cm or 62 inches, including pulleys and handles. Checked baggage on international/regional flights that exceed the above size limits will be subject to excess baggage charges.

C. For domestic flights that constitute international transportation, the size limit of checked baggage shall be subject to the size limit of checked baggage on international/regional flights.

4.4.3 Weight limit per piece of checked baggage

A. The weight of each piece of checked baggage shall not be less than 2 kg or 4 lbs.

B. The maximum weight of each piece of checked baggage shall not exceed 32 kg or 70 lbs.

C. Baggage that exceeds the above baggage allowance shall be split or transported as cargo. The above baggage allowance is not the free baggage allowance, and passengers are required to pay the excess baggage fee for the part exceeding the free baggage allowance.

4.5 Standard Free Checked Baggage Allowance

Shenzhen Airlines applies the weight-based system for standard checked baggage on domestic routes. For the specific free checked baggage allowance, please refer to the Free Checked Baggage Allowance (Weight Concept) for Flights Actually Operated by Shenzhen Airlines. It applies the piece-based system for standard checked baggage on international and regional routes. For the specific free checked baggage allowance, please refer to the Free Checked Baggage Allowance (Piece Concept) for Flights Actually Operated by Shenzhen Airlines.

4.6 Excess charges for ordinary checked baggage

If the passenger's baggage does not comply with the free baggage policy or its weight, size or number of pieces exceeds the free baggage allowance standard, the passenger shall pay the excess baggage fee or special baggage fee, which shall be calculated according to the origin and destination of the passenger's checked baggage transportation segment.

Shenzhen Airlines implements the weight system for excess charges for ordinary checked baggage on domestic routes, and implements the piece system for excess charges on international and regional routes. See the List of Excess Charges for Ordinary Checked Baggage on Flights Actually Operated by Shenzhen Airlines for details.

4.7 Excess baggage charges for special baggage

See the "List of Special Baggage Charges for Flights Actually Operated by Shenzhen Airlines for details".

4.8 Solutions for baggage fees

4.8.1 Change of flight:

If the baggage fee has been collected and unused, it can be refunded at the original purchase channel without handling fee. The passenger will re-pay the baggage fee for the new itinerary.

4.8.2 Change of itinerary or change of class of service

Not allowed. If the baggage fee has been collected and unused, it can be refunded at the original purchase channel without handling fee. The passenger will re-pay the baggage fee for the new itinerary.
